Safe and secure communities are the bedrock on which we build wellbeing and prosperity for all. For me this means communities which are well policed, but also, where we all play our role in making sure criminals have no scope to thrive, watching out for the vulnerable and helping the police where we can. I said this in the introduction to my original Police and Crime Plan which was published in 2016.

Today, that vision remains exactly the same and is still at the very core of this extension to the Plan which will set our objectives as we continue to work with Essex Police, our fire and rescue colleagues, community and other emergency services partners, businesses, local and national government, the justice system, volunteers, faith groups, charities and of course everyone who lives, works and travels in Essex.

In the past four years we have achieved a lot, Essex Police is the strongest it has been in many years with dedicated town centre, rural and business crime teams and it continues to grow. We have the second largest Special Constabulary and the fastest growing. These have also made huge strides in working in collaboration, effectively using our finances to put more into frontline policing as well as reducing anti-social behaviour and bringing huge amounts of investment into the county to help tackle County Lines and protect our most vulnerable people.

To update the Plan, we looked at what we have achieved so far, took into account what residents and our partners thought using a number of surveys and engagement activities and looked at what new challenges were now facing us in light of the Coronavirus pandemic and of course different crime trends. This work told us that our seven policing priorities to keep people safe were still valid with people still showing a strong preference for more visible policing within their communities, especially neighbourhood policing, cracking down on anti-social behaviour and tackling gangs and violent crime.

Using this information as our guide we have worked closely with Essex Police to update and revise the “We Will” commitments within the Plan. We have also had the benefit of face-to-face workshops with the Police, Fire and Crime Panel, Council Leaders, Council Chief Executives, Members of Parliament for Essex and the Strategic Independent Advisory Group facilitated by the Police.

To supplement these workshops, we have also engaged with our partners from across Essex to seek their views and input. This has included the Essex Association of Local Councils, Neighbourhood Watch, Community Safety Partnership Managers, representatives from the business community, rural community and voluntary sector as well as several commissioned services.

Please read this extension to the Plan and if you would like to find out more or get involved in our work to continue to build a safe and secure Essex, get in touch.

Roger Hirst
Police, Fire and Crime Commissioner for Essex
Message from the Chief Constable

This plan is important because keeping the people and communities of Essex safe is the priority for everyone.

I am pleased that the Police, Fire and Crime Commissioner has extended the period it covers, and we continue to work together to keep the county safe.

I took up the role as Chief Constable of Essex Police in October 2018 and have reviewed and adapted the Essex Force Plan to enable us to keep working towards the Commissioner’s strategic priorities for crime and policing.

I have been really proud to see the outstanding work from our force’s officers, staff and volunteers who strive daily to keep the people of our county safe; catch criminals; and support each other whilst maintaining the trust of the public.

Their work has continued to support the seven policing priorities set out in this document, and we have seen great success in each of those areas.

We have continued to see a reduction of offences including robbery, burglary, theft and anti-social behaviour – all of which have a huge impact on victims and communities.

We continue to focus on tackling serious, violent and gang-related crime. In the last full financial year, I’m delighted to say more than 460 officers joined our force.

Our PFCC value local and visible policing and, with and on behalf of the people of Essex.

We have continued to see a reduction of offences including robbery, burglary, theft and anti-social behaviour – all of which have a huge impact on victims and communities.

Reducing knife-related crime remains a priority and, in the last year, through Operation Sceptre we have taken nearly 500 knives off of our streets, arrested 700 criminals for related offences and carried out 2,000 hours of targeted patrols.

Essex Police’s detectives are also undertaking the UK’s largest ever homicide review and adapted the Essex Force Plan to enable us to keep working towards our communities. In doing this we continue to make Essex a safer place and a hostile environment for serious and organised criminals.

Policing with the consent and support of the public is still the foundation of British policing – this means with and on behalf of the diverse communities of Essex and the uniqueness of our county. In working on this plan, we do and will continue to ensure that we deliver a service that is truly representative and understanding of Essex; in what we do, what we say and what we are. In this way we can continue the proud history of policing in with and on behalf of the people of Essex.

I know how much the people of our county and our PFCC value local and visible policing and, in the last full financial year, I’m delighted to say more than 460 officers joined our force.

Those new officers who wear an Essex Police badge join a proud force of constables, detectives, volunteers, Special Constables and staff who are committed, every single day to protecting and serving Essex.

The Police and Crime Plan and its overall successes are built on:

This plan is an extension to the Police and Crime Plan 2016-2020 following the delay in the PFCC election as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The plan builds on the achievements of the last four years and sets out the policing priorities and aims for keeping Essex safe.

The plan brings together police, partners and the public of Essex to build safe and secure communities, to ensure the public have confidence in their police force and that victims are satisfied with the service and support they receive.

Our vision for Essex

Safe and secure communities are the bedrock on which we build success and wellbeing for all

The Police and Crime Plan

This plan is an extension to the Police and Crime Plan 2016-2020 following the delay in the PFCC election as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The plan builds on the achievements of the last four years and sets out the policing priorities and aims for keeping Essex safe.

The plan brings together police, partners and the public of Essex to build safe and secure communities, to ensure the public have confidence in their police force and that victims are satisfied with the service and support they receive.

The building blocks of success

The Police and Crime Plan and its overall successes are built on:

Prevention

Improving the wellbeing of people across Essex, making sure that crime and anti-social behaviour do not happen in the first place and that children and vulnerable people are kept safe from harm.

Communications and engagement

Giving the public a voice in local policing so they feel they are heard, feel able to come forward to report crime and anti-social behaviour and have confidence in the way that the police protect them.

Volunteer Plogging

We want the police to be part of local communities and local communities to be part of the police by enabling more people to play an active role in keeping us safe.

Partnership

To improve the safety of our communities we must work closely in partnership with other services across Essex. Only by working together with the fire and rescue service, local councils, community safety partnerships, the voluntary sector, community sector and health care can we help our communities stay safe, prevent crime and protect the vulnerable.
We believe victims should be at the heart of the Criminal Justice system and are placing a special emphasis on their needs within each and every policing priority.

Everyone who reports a crime should be kept informed and updated about their case.

Every victim should receive the services they are entitled to under the Victims Code and we will ensure that the criminal justice agencies are held to account for delivery against this code.

Our Restorative Justice Services, which are focused on the needs of victims, will expand to enable more victims to have access.

We will commission services which are driven by the needs of the victim and we will regularly seek feedback to improve and provide even better support, so victims are able to cope and recover from their experience.

People who have experienced harm should receive appropriate support and be directly involved in the design of their services.

Victims are at the heart of what we do

The seven policing priorities to protect Essex

- More local, visible and accessible policing
- Cracking down on anti-social behaviour
- Breaking the cycle of domestic abuse
- Tackling gangs and serious violence
- Disrupting and preventing organised crime
- Protecting children and vulnerable people from harm
- Improving safety on our roads
We have been working hard with partners over the last four years to deliver against the Police and Crime Plan. Working together with you, we have achieved a lot. Working with Essex Police, we have built a more modern, efficient and effective force, that is growing and better connected to our communities. Highlights include:

- Delivering the funding to enable Essex Police to be a growing force. It has 368 more officers by April 2020 than it had in 2016. On top of this, the Government announced a further 135 officers will be coming to Essex meaning the county will have 503 additional police officers by Spring 2021!
- Essex also has the second largest and fastest growing Special Constabulary in the country.
- Working to bring the numbers of incidents relating to anti-social behaviour, burglary and theft down.
- Leading the fight against gangs, county lines and violence with the development of a specialist Violence Reduction Unit.

An efficient force

Essex Police has been independently recognised by Her Majesty’s Inspectorate of Constabularies and Fire and Rescue Authorities as an efficient force that offers good value for money.

We have delivered the funding for more police officers

Taking evidence developed in Essex, Roger Hirst was appointed finance lead for Police and Crime Commissioners across the country and led the work with the Home Office and Treasury to secure additional funding for policing nationally. This work secured the first increase in police funding in seven years.

We have provided the investment needed for better technology, saving officers 20 minutes per shift

At the same time as recruiting more officers there is continuing work to improve the efficiency of the Force. We have provided the investment needed for new technology and improvements in systems and processes as part of the Mobile First Programme. This is helping to ensure officers and staff are as effective and efficient as they can be and has saved each officer 20 minutes per shift so far with more savings anticipated.

We have set an ambitious goal for more Special Constables working in your communities

Essex became both the fastest growing Special Constabulary in the country and the second largest, with the Metropolitan Police Force’s Special Constabulary being the only one in the country with more officers.

We have broadened the number of volunteers from your communities helping to keep people safe

Continued growth of the Volunteer Police Cadet and Active Citizens Schemes.
Our achievements so far

Working with the Safer Essex Roads Partnership we have:
- Reduced the number of people killed and seriously injured on our roads
- Grown our community safety family by expanding the Community Speedwatch Team
- Rolled out drug testing kits to more officers to detect more drug drivers
- Delivered the funding for more police officers, including 21 additional roads policing officers

We have:
- Invested £5 million to support victims of sexual and serious violence
- Supported Essex Police’s increased use of Stop & Search Powers
- Secured £2.5 million to prevent young people getting involved in gangs and violence
- Delivered the funding for more police officers to tackle gangs and support young people

Violent crime nationally is on the rise but the increase in Essex is lower. There is still more to do and we need to work together.

Breaking the cycle of domestic abuse
We have:

- Invested in specialist support for victims
- Continued to fund specialists to help the fight against modern slavery
- Delivered the funding so there are more officers working in public protection teams, gang units and dedicated youth teams

Essex Police’s first ever Fire Investigation dog is now working to protect the county after completing her training recently.

Three-year-old Sprocker Spaniel Fizz, a femaleijo, has joined the Essex Police Fire Investigation Unit to help identify evidence of arson and potentially explosive activity on the county’s roads. Fizz was able to identify evidence of arson, and potentially explosive activity on the county’s roads, and was trained to identify flammable liquids and solids, many of which are completely odourless to humans. After being trained by Essex Police, Fizz will work on regional cases, helping to identify evidence of arson, and potentially explosive activity on the county’s roads, and was trained to identify flammable liquids and solids, many of which are completely odourless to humans.
